

TWO OKLAHOMA BANKS LOOTED BY BAND OF ROBBERS

SIXTEEN YEAR OLD BOY CAPTURES BANDIT; ANOTHER SHOT

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 27.—Two banks at Stroud, Okla., were robbed early today of $5,000 and one of the robbers, said to be Henry Starr, was shot and captured. Eleven men were in the band which is surrounded by a posse of 300 in a gully two miles east of Stroud. A battle is expected. The men rode into Stroud at 10 o'clock and tied their horses at the stock yards.

They were unmasks and walked directly to the Stroud National bank.

As one of the robbers was mounting his horse, Paul Curry, 16 years old pointed his rifle at the man and as he did so the robber reached for his revolver. "Drop that gun or I'll shoot," Curry called to him.

Starr dropped the revolver and the boy fired. The bullet struck the man in the leg and he was unable to mount his horse, by mounted men and were speedily captured by the boy and his surroundings in a pasture two miles east of Stroud. They have

MUST AVOID FIRING OVER AMERICAN LINE

Brownsville, Tex., March 27.—The village siege of Matamoros, the Mexican town opposite here, began about noon today. Cavalrymen opened heavy rifle fire on the breastworks west of Matamoros near the Rio Grande.

Simultaneously the cavalry total, 8,000 men, began spreading to surround the city on the west and south. Artillery is due to reach the firing line some time this evening.

Brownsville, Texas, March 27.—Owing to grave apprehension that shrapnel shells will fall in Brownsville in the battle expected at Matamoros, opposite here, Colonel A. P. Blackstone, commanding the United States lower border cavalry patrol here, today sent word to both forces to avoid firing in any manner to endanger American lives and property.

Matamoros apparently was ready today for siege by an approaching Villa army, whose advance guard was within cannon shot of the city's outer defense.

These defenses are of three sorts. First, there is a line of yellow earth breastwork, 12 to 15 feet high, and wide and strong enough on top for passage of an automobile. These breastworks enclose the city on the two sides west and south, while the Rio Grande curves around the other two sides. Along the breast-works there are long stretches of practically open ground before the city proper is reached.

On the western edge the city is enclosed off from this open space by continuous lines of box cars disposed in the railroad yards to catch stray bullets.

Villa's troops are approaching from the west from which quarter the hardest attack is expected.

PETITIONS PRESENTED MR. TYNES; IS NOT CANDIDATE.

Bearing the signatures of between 1200 and 1300 electors of the city, petitions were presented to Ex-Mayor F. N. Tynes this morning asking him to become a candidate for mayor before the Republican primary. The petitions read:

"We the undersigned respectfully request that you become a candidate for mayor of the city of Portsmouth at the Republican primary and assure you our support both in the primary and at the election."

Mr. Tynes thanked the committee that presented the petitions, and assured them that he appreciated the manifestation of good will and esteem displayed by them, and by those who had signed the petitions. He stated however, that for purely business reasons he could not see his way clear to become a candidate again for the office of mayor.

THEATRE.

The Sun
Don't miss seeing "The Girl" during the spring days of my lands of France. If they reach you like a serpent, like a snake, like a mouse, in fact all the time, "The Girl" plays like a young blade of fashion, and it is well filled with the whimsical, impulsive, and is herself given the documents of the little favorite of the pads to deliver. Needless to say, the girl's little favorite of England, papers are never delivered, except where heavy and will have her heart to the King of England, to Louise, which, intended for the same time, the toils of a France's monarch, plainly reveals her duplicity. How Nell further outwits the vengeful woman and other malicious and envious enemies of her love and happiness, and wins back her royal's lover's heart and trust, is dramatically developed in the dashing comedy of the swash-buckling period of hearts and swords, and Mrs. Pickford leads a new and vivid beauty "Mistress Nell," of whom it was said, "England would be worse than a Puritan funeral without her." An excellent cast, including Mr. Owen Moore, who plays Charles II, contributes to make the play one of unusual interest and merit.

"For Napoleon and France"
At Lyric Monday.

Few men in the world's history have the fascination for readers and students of today that Napoleon exercises, and "For Napoleon and France" tells the story of some of the most exciting and romantic incidents with which his great life was crowded. This latest photoplaymatic triumph of George Kleine is charged with the thrill of wonderful battles and at the same time presents the Little Corsican in his more human and pleasing personal moods. This marvel of animated photography is of infinite variety and contrast—dramatic and spectacular—and will be the attraction at the Lyric theatre for Monday at a 10 cent admission.

Most readers of history and literature know this great general only from his military side, looking on him as the admiral soldier and an individual of indomitable will, willing to permit nothing to stand in the path of his ambitions.

"For Napoleon and France" shows these phases of his wonderful character with scenes of battle and carnage so realistic they cannot fail to thrill spectators. But these form only the cold background for the charming delineation of the romantic side of the Little Corsican, which places him in a different light than that usually shed on him and presents the man of honor and feeling. "For Napoleon and France" displays his gentle moods. The Little Corsican had a kindly disposition and would go to any extremes to save from disgrace or death a soldier who had risked his life for the flag of France.

Romanticism abounds and thrives on the screen. An entanglement between a renowned Court beauty and a youthful captain who proved susceptible to her alluring charms on the basis of it. She seeks to take advantage of his inclination to use him to execute nefarious plans of herself and her accomplices. The frustration of her plans and plot for vengeance are thrilling and dramatically portrayed in a manner that holds the rapt attention of the spectators.

The Lyric offers a feature attraction every day next week. "Her Masterpiece" in three parts on Tuesday, is an excellent picture featuring Arthur Johnson and Little Brixton, "The White Goddess," with Alice Joyce on Wednesday is also a splendid picture, and "Buckshot John," the Pauline, on Friday, is the best ever.

The Avenue

Manager Potts, of the Avenue theatre, is doing wonderful business these days. Among one of his best specials is the Saturday's feature—101 Bison films. The films are the greatest western pictures ever taken by any company, and featuring the best acting. Mr. Potts should receive ten cents for a show. Like his today's program, but on account of the present conditions and as he has splendid crowds at all his shows, he will not charge but five cents. "Mysterious Woman" is the title of the 101 Bison and is in two reels, showing real life in the West, and "Little House on the Prairie," and "The Virginian," and "The Lone Ranger," and "The Big Bill." Any viewer of the movies should not miss this treat, and the price is the admission. As besides it was a new day, not only for the theatre, but also for the Yankee baseball boys. They did well with their ticket selling and will be able to obtain their suits in the near future.

Keystone Comedy

At Exhibit Tonight.

Tonight's show at the Exhibit theatre is a comedy show all the way through with the exception of the orchestral music, and it is a treat. Keystone comedy is real comedy and this is just what the Exhibit is offering to its patrons. Tonight, "Patty and Mabel's Simple Life" is the name of the picture tonight. It is a two reel feature on a par with the regular Keystone comedy features, so don't fail to see it.

Monday's offering is "The Runaway June," two reels.

At The Temple Theater

"The Million Dollar Mystery" is here at last. Every patron of this marvelous photoplay wants to know its mystery. You will want to know, too, "Give your self the treat of your life. Enjoy the signing of certain papers which are in place England in the course of the picture tonight. This Nell de-

ALL TOPSY TURVY.

The whole world is turned upside down and everything is running out of kilter. If you don't believe it, just look at West Virginia. Men sold the heritage of family name, they bartered away public honor and individual honesty to forward and foment the success of the Republican party. Notwithstanding all this, here now comes the Charleston Mail, a Republican organ, for whose existence politicians have paid tens of thousands to maintain, and complains of the state administration because it is pursuing the traditional policy of the party in cutting down the rations of the insane and orphan asylums and raising the hire of the managers and the job-placers. Why the cost of a single meal per inmate in the insane asylum has been cut down to the basis of two cents and the Mail complains of this unparalleled economy, it would, if one may draw a reasonable inference from its language, cut down the hire of the officials and henchmen and put the cost of the meals up a quarter of a cent. Unreasonable, outrageous? What does it suppose Hatfield was elected for by Republicans? To stint unfortunate inmates like they fatten geese on the New Orleans market, or to give proper recognition to the fellows who voted and fought at the polls with that Williamson bulldog?

AS THE MIND WORKS.

Some of our kind German friends have directed the attention of The Times to a linguistic error it fell into, the other day, in referring to a publication as Der Faderland, when it should be Das Faderland. In a way, their correction is right and again it is wrong. The error in the name just shows what queer pranks the mind sometimes plays with our bodily parts. The name of the publication is not Das Faderland, but the plain English, The Fatherland. It was thus the writer meant to set it down, but there came into his mind thoughts of the days when he was reciting his German lessons and how hard and ridiculous it seemed that these old language carpenters did not build all alike. Here was the grass just turning green, the birds singing their first spring songs and the fish just beginning to bite, yet a fellow had to stay in class all day long and tell a speechified professor that the English was the definite article, but in German der, die, das, den and des all meant the same thing, the, and it all depended as to what sex you were referring to and in which case the noun was being used as to whether it was der or one of a half dozen variations. Writing in one language and stumblingly thinking in another, his sub-conscious made him write Der for The and substitute Faderland for Fatherland.

THE PASSENGER FARE INCREASE.

The legislature should approach the consideration of the two and one-half cent passenger fare bill with perfectly open minds and a determination to do justice all round. They should bear in mind the rights of the traveling public and the rights of the railroads. They should not allow themselves to be affected or swayed by the clamor of demagogues or by the worked up appeals of the railroads. The proposition is purely a business one. If the railroad companies, in the light of increased expenses and higher wages, cannot afford to carry passengers for two cents a mile, they should be allowed to increase their rates. If they cannot show this thoroughly and clearly, and without subterfuge, the proposed bill should be killed.

The time has come when legislators should treat railroads in a clean-cut and business-like manner, not as malefactors. They are a vital part of our business life and they cannot do business at a loss.

Let the legislature investigate and get at the facts. Then let it act according with the certainty that the public will back it up.

"I met a rich but honest farmer awhile ago and he was blowing about how he had gotten $1,500 for his wheat and 80 cents for his corn and so much for his cattle and peckers that he couldn't keep track of the profits and yet he was making the worst calamity and hard times how I've heard in months. I'm going to organize a society to teach optimism to the farmers. That's what I'm going to do," said the large fat man with a Teddy Roosevelt family and a small income as he cheerfully sprawled over two seats in the street car and slapped us jovially on the back as we were on our way to work this morning.

THE STORY OF A DOLLAR.

TEMPTATIONS OF A LEGISLATOR.

We are utterly shocked to read in the canned editorials sent out to us by the perfectly reliable Democratic state press bureau that a Republican member of the state legislature, who is also said to be a member of a Republican controlling committee, reported to the Columbus police last week that he had been rubbed in an alley by a colored woman, last week, his loss being $117 and a gold watch. It is also stated that he had been making a tour of the unfeasted part of the city with a delegation of lobbyists. Now don't that beat all. The temptations that beset the pathway of the legislator are simply overpowering. It seems to take a great and upright citizen to walk untroubled and unsentimental in the midst of sin as exemplified at Columbus.

IN OUR EVERY DAY LIFE.

One of the little unpleasantnesses that occasionally comes in the life of a perfectly innocent and conscientious newspaper editor happened to us Friday afternoon when a strapping six-footer of a corn-fed girl breezed in upon us and thrusting a copy of the Weekly Times under our nose, kissed, "read that."

We read and observed an item in a country letter to the effect that "Ab Jones was over to Lafe Ingles' Sunday to see about bringing home a fine filly he had had his eye upon for some time."

"Well," said we, "what's wrong? Ab had a right to see Lafe about the colt if he wanted to didn't he?"

"I'm the 'filly' referred to and I ain't a colt, and there's a blamed sight wrong," declared our visitor with blazing eyes. "And what's more if you let anything more like that get into your old paper, I'm comin' down here and use a horse whip on you. Do you get that?"

Yes, we said, "we do, but we want to assure you that we were perfectly innocent and—"

And the large young lady, with blood in her eye, departed us breezily as she came.

It won't happen again, you just bet that. But really we were innocent.

P. S.—The names used above are fictitious. We are not taking any chances on another business visit from the corn fed one.

Hamilton county's thoroughly business-like political organization got for its first helping from the grateful Governor, the State Highway Commissionership and control of about $10,000,000 annually of road contracts. Hereafter roads of all contractors will lead to Cincinnati.

To her family one day said Old Mother McGrew: "I'm going to give a big party for you, And you children can help me a lot if you try; The party will be on the Fourth of July."

"So you'd better behave until then or you'll find At the very last minute I may change my mind." The children all promised because, if it is true, They doled on parties as all children do.

In the meantime good Mother McGrew hasted and brewed; She fried and she frizzled; she broiled and she stewed; So when the great day came she had a sumptuous All sorts of delectable goodies to eat.

She bought roman candles of red, white and blue; She bought some pin-wheels and some sky-rockets, too; And so when the little folks got there that night And saw all these things they were wild with delight.

As they sat down to supper good Mother McGrew said, "We will have fireworks as soon as you're through." But alas for her plans, when they looked on the lawn They found all their beautiful fireworks were gone.

The children all started to weep and to wail; Then Mother McGrew saw the Ostrich turn pale; She knew in a minute just what he had done; He'd eaten the fireworks up, every last one!

"Though I really should shake you, I'll scold you instead, For a shaking might set off the fireworks," she said. "In fact, I don't know just what I ought to do In a case of this kind," said poor Mother McGrew.

"But this much I know, it's distressingly plain You'll never be asked to a party again." And I think that her word must have proved to be true, For I've never seen him at any, have you?

ring paper while his wife sat by, knitting.

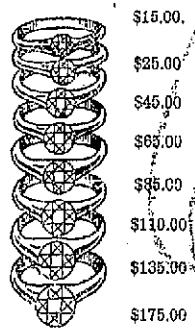

"Just listen to this, Dolly," he said. "It says here that more than 5,000 elephants' year go to make our piano keys."

"Gracious," cried the wife. "Isn't it wonderful. Dan what some animals can be trained to do?"—Southern Woman's Magazine.

Holds Meeting In Pool Room

The Waverly Watchman says:

One of the unique features of Rev. P. B. Osborne's evangelistic campaign in Piketon was the holding of devotional services in the pool room of that place Tuesday evening. Proprietor Willish gave the Reverend permission to speak from the main entrance. And good will and fellowship prevailed throughout the meeting.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCK

New York, March 27—Recovering tendencies of the past day or two were overcome today, the market regaining all its strength of the mid-week and mounting in numerous instances to higher levels. Trading was very extensive and again included some of the specialties, general Motors gaining 5 points on rumors of disbursements to shareholders. Bethlehem Steel was the outstanding feature, however, advancing 83 $\frac{1}{2}$ points to 76, or 3 points above its record price on publication of the annual statement showing earnings of over 30 percent for the common stock. Reading and United States Steel were the most conspicuous leaders, the latter selling at its highest since dividends were suspended. The closing was strong. Bonds were firm.

Some irregularity was manifested by today's early market, although a majority of the active stocks were higher, particularly Reading and New Haven, the latter rising a point. Baltimore and Ohio also added slightly to its recent advance and Bethlehem Steel made further recovery from the preceding day's weakness. U. S. Steel and Amalgamated Copper were under moderate restraint. Smelting, American Sugar, Beet Sugar and Mexican Petroleum were fractionally higher. London's range from American showed some material losses.

happier if they would marry members of their own church. "Believe me" is not a very strong expression. However, I do not approve of girls using slang.

Dear Dolly—I am keeping company with a young man whom I do not like, but he is so good to me that I have to turn him down. What shall I do, continue to go with him or leave him, or else put the rollers under him the next time he calls?

GRACE.

Tell him you do not care for his company. A girl has no right to let a man think she cares for him when she does not. Let him down easy, Grace.

Dear Dolly—It is soon my birthday and do you think it is right to have a party and have some girls and boys to come and have some ice cream and cakes?

Ice Cream and Cake Eater.

It would be all right.

Dear Dolly—What is the best way to treat a boy who acts like he hasn't got all that is coming to him? Yet he is awfully bright in school.

THE GIRLS.

Let him alone. He is probably not so foolish as he looks, and will turn out to be a sensible man some day.

Dear Dolly—I am a young lady 18 years of age, with auburn hair and brown eyes. Do you think I am very pretty? There was a gentleman proposed to me on my 18th birthday, but he wanted me to give up my religion and my church. Do you think if he really loved me he would ask me to give up my church, as I have heart and soul in it?

What colors do you think I could wear? What do you think of a young lady who uses the expression of "Believe me"? Also what is your opinion of slang?

A TIPPERARY GIRL.

Protest Against T & C. Co. Plans

A portion of the resolution approving the plans of the T. & C. Co. Northern Railroad Company, relative to underground, overland and grade crossings, and location of county roads, pertaining to the county, was deferred by the county commissioners Saturday morning in order to grant them time to property owners who object to the plan on the ground that their properties are damaged.

Judge John C. Miller appeared before the commissioners Saturday as attorney for the protesters. La Caille, Alfred Correll, Lindsay Codd and Fred Lynch of Harrison township. The protests of the first three named have to do with the change of the Scioto-Belleview pile line near their homes to a line three hundred feet west of the side of the track. The protest of Fred Lynch is similar to that of the Corrells, the location being three miles from a

The protesters will be given a hearing before the county commissioners Monday morning at nine o'clock.

Attorney A. H. Beamer, counsel for the railroad company, and Prosecutor Attorney W. V. Lohman and Special Prosecutor A. T. R. Somerville were there as observers to the board. The meeting was characterized by sharp exchanges between opposing counsel.

WEST VIRGINIA IS BROKE TO THE LIMIT, MAY CALL THE ASSEMBLY TOGETHER

Charleston, W. Va., March 27.—Officials in the Capital were today personally paying for the postage stamps used in their departments, because Uncle Sam does not credit business and the state of West Virginia has very little money for current expenses. Hundreds of school teachers throughout the state took their monthly pay warrants to banks where they were discounted at six per cent or if they were not in need of funds, they held the warrants away until such time as the state can redeem them.

More than 150 of the 225 persons employed at the state house were passed by the paymaster when he made his usual monthly round, and J. S. Darst, auditor general, arranged with banks to take care of the employes of state institutions in other communities.

These hard times have come upon official West Virginia because the state legislature, in spite of a special session called to enact tax laws, failed to appropriate enough money to run the government. Normal monthly expenses are $290,000, while the amount available at this time is only $78,000, leaving a deficiency of $212,000. The emergency fund is practically exhausted, and so serious has become the situation that a number of legislators have suggested that another special session be called, at which all members will serve without pay until the laws necessary to provide the money can be passed.

TYPHUS EPIDEMIC IN SERBIA WORST IN MODERN TIMES

Nish, Serbia, March 27.—Via London: Charles J. Vopicka, the American minister to Serbia, has informed the Serbian government that the American Red Cross society, acting in conjunction with the Rockefeller commission, proposes to send to Serbia a fully equipped medical commission to combat the existing unsanitary conditions in the country. The Serbian government has gratefully accepted Mr. Vopicka's offer.

Health conditions in Serbia have recently been described as appalling. Typhus is raging throughout the country and other contagious diseases prevail.

Recent travelers in Serbia have said that hardly enough people have been spared by typhus to bury the dead. Victims are found lying in the roads and hospital conditions had been described as utterly inadequate and shocking. An American Red Cross unit was sent to Serbia several months ago. Its members labored heroically but the task was of course beyond them. Dr. James F. Daunnelly of the American organization died at his post and others of the American doctors together with nine of the nurses have been ill.

Lady Page, wife of Sir Ralph Spencer Page, and a grand daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Parson Stevens, of New York, is reported to have died from typhus fever in Serbia. She was at the head of the British Red Cross mission in that country.

New York, March 27.—Serbia is in the grip of an epidemic of typhus, more virulent and attended by greater fatality than the world in modern times has ever been called upon to combat, according to Henry James, Jr., of the war relief commission of the Rockefeller foundation, who arrived here last night on the steamer Lusitania from Liverpool.

WITMER AND MAYOR EXCHANGE HOT SHOTS

ROYAL RELATIONSHIP

Through his counsel, Attorney Ralph S. Kent, Buffalo, N. Y., J. F. Witmer, planning and supervising engineer on Portsmouth's new water works, has sent a communication to the mayor, taking exception to some of the alleged criticisms of the mayor as reported in the Morning Star to have been delivered before city council.

Mr. Witmer's counsel calls the mayor's special attention to the article in the Star quoting the mayor as saying "The mayor bitterly denounced this suggestion, saying that Witmer was not entitled to a nickel as he had the city authorities into a hole through negligence. In concluding, he stated that Mr. Witmer had not been on the job since a year ago last November."

In the letter Mr. Witmer's counsel claims that the statements are wholly unwarranted and when made against a professional man are libelous, and demands a correction of the statements and apology and due publicity of both. The attorney further states that Mr. Witmer is determined to put a stop to the mayor's individual heckling and compel him, as the attorney terms it, "to confine himself to the truth and within the bounds of fair criticism."

The mayor in reply to the letter states: "Permit me to advise that whatever I, the executive officer of this city, said in discussing the affairs of its people on the floor of the city council is a matter of record and may be obtained from the clerical entries of such proceedings and shall stand for all its worth in behalf of those whom I have the honor to represent."

Suit in Partition

Suit in partition was filed in common pleas court Saturday morning by Margaret Ramsey against James W. McKee, Andrew J. McKee, an insane person and Henry McKee, all tenants in common of two tracts of land in Valley township, containing 54 acres of land. The plaintiff wants her interest in the property set off to her in severalty, and also asks the court to investigate the claim of James W. McKee to further interest in the premises by reason of alleged payment of delinquent taxes. The petition was filed by Attorneys Bannon and Bannon and William J. Meyer.

INTERURBAN CONTRACT AWARDED ON SATURDAY

Work Begins Soon;
Finished Dec. 1915

A contract for the building of the extension of the Ohio Valley Traction Company's line from Sciotosville to Ironton was awarded Saturday afternoon to O. S. Hord and A. Keathly on a joint bid.

The contract specifically stipulates that the extension is to be completed by December 1, 1915. Actual work on the project should begin within 20 days.

Other bidders were the E. G. Nave Bros. Company, Hatfield Construction Company of Huntington, Hunt and Forbes of Ashland, Ky., Fred H. Jones of Chicago, John O. Kelley of Ashland, Ky., the Brubaker Construction Company of Huntington, Bentz Contracting Company of Columbus, and Tanner and Burns of Cincinnati.

Messrs. Hord and Keathly will do all the track laying, concrete work and grading and their equipment will be shipped to Sciotosville without delay, it was stated Saturday.

The contract calls for a 21-mile extension and with its completion the Ohio Valley Traction Company will maintain an hourly schedule between Portsmouth and Ironton. Two substations are to be built, one at Franklin Furnace and one at Hanging Rock, but they will be built by the promoters of the extension and not the contractors.

Fifty-six thousand ties, 2,200 tons of steel rails and 100 tons of trolley and transmission wire will go into the extension. The Ohio Valley Traction Company, Friday began distributing telephone poles between Sciotosville and Franklin Furnace.

"Now" that the contract has been awarded actual work on the extension is only a few days off. The work is to be prosecuted with all the vigor possible as we mean to have the line look for extension completed and ready for operation by December 1, 1915," said Vice President Raymond York of the company, Saturday.

"The contractors will hold a conference with the company on Monday and arrange to begin work at the earliest possible moment, possibly in 15 days."

The announcement of the awarding of a contract for the building of the extension will be carried here and all along the proposed route with the greatest of satisfaction. It will give Portsmouth and Ironton direct connections by trolley, something that will add to the prosperity and progressiveness of both cities. It will be the means of increasing business in a commercial way in Portsmouth as this city will be the terminus of the traction line.

Scenes of activity will soon be pictured all along the proposed route as much of the material has already arrived. Green townshipsmen will furnish 15,000 of the ties to go into the extension.

Four new pay as you enter traction cars have been ordered for the line and will be delivered November 15, 1915.

Big city style, grace and fabrics are to be had in Hall Bros.' made-to-measure suits for men. 27-1

Henkel Pleads Not Guilty;
Trial On Tuesday Morning

The trial of W. H. Henkel, young white man indicted on four counts by the recent grand jury in connection with the alleged criminal assault upon Mrs. William Barker, near Haverhill, last Saturday, will be held next Tuesday, beginning at 9 o'clock. Henkel will be tried first on the charge of rape.

When arraigned before Judge Thomas in common pleas court Saturday morning, Henkel pleaded not guilty to all four charges contained in the indictments, rape, assault with intent to rape, robbery and assault with intent to rob. A large crowd was present at the arraignment.

Judge Thomas inquired of the prisoner whether he was able to retain an attorney to defend him. He replied that he was not, but that he thought relatives in Johnson City, Tenn., would come to his assistance financially. If they refuse, the court will appoint an attorney.

Plead Guilty

To Robbery

Russell Williams and Miland Brown, two negroes indicted three times for burglary and larceny, pleaded guilty to the indictment, charging them with the robbery of Thompson Brothers' store in McDermott and the Hines barber shop in Laeta-ville, and not guilty of the robbery of the N. & W. station at Wheelersburg.

Brown was given an indeterminate sentence to the Mansfield Reformatory for an indefinite term.

Passed For Sentence

Oswell Pennington, Kendall Fields and John Anderson, indicted jointly on a charge of petit larceny, entered pleas of guilty. Their cases were passed for the present for sentence. They were charged with stealing chickens from the Harrette property on the boulevard.

With the arraignment of the above prisoners, all of the indictments returned by the recent grand jury that were made public have been served.

Cases Set

For Hearing

The cases of the State against Alfred Thomas, alias Thompson, and Oswell Pennington, charged with burglary and larceny, are assigned for hearing in common pleas court Monday morning at nine o'clock, before Judge Thomas and jury. They are charged with breaking open a N. & W. freight car last December and stealing a quantity of meat. Prosecutor Micklethwait will represent the state, and Funks and Jenkins, the defendants.

LOCAL GERMAN'S VIEW OF THE WAR

By Major Lewis F. Korth, Former Editor of The Correspondent

Friday, March 27, 1915.
Przemysl has fallen, the big Austrian fortress on the San, after five months of heroic defense and famine, but the victor was not the Russian, it was hunger. Its brave defender, General Von Kusmanek, was forced to capitulate, because his soldiers were starving and the population with thousands of prisoners was on its last crumb. The garrison made another sortie a few days before the surrender to break through the iron ring of fortifications encircling the town, a supreme last effort, but it proved futile. The long expected relief had not come although an army from the south was fighting its way to the fortress. It was hope against hope and surrender became unavoidable.

The Russians claim to have taken 117,000 prisoners, but this seems exaggerated, as the garrison originally 130,000 men, has been heavily reduced by fighting and yet more by typhus. The hospitals were overcrowded and convalescents few in proportion to the loss by death.

The commander had received orders through his aviators, who kept up the communication with general headquarters in Vienna, to surrender.

Berlin says "The capitulation, with which the higher command has had to reckon for a long time past, has no influence on the general situation." General Von Kusmanek destroyed the outer fortifications and all guns, munition and material, so that the Russians, who are hard up for these things, have a mere shell. The loss of the fortress nevertheless is a blow to the Austrians, as it was the bulwark for their lines on the San protecting the road to Cracow west and to Lemberg east, but it had been discounted for some time in their plan of operations in that section. The siege has cost the Russians at least 100,000 men.

One single German division took Liege by storm, Namur was reduced within three days. Antwerp were in eleven, and Maubeuge Langon on Russian territory was taken in as many weeks as it took months to starve out, not conquer, the heroes of Przemysl.

According to Vienna the Austro-Hungarians have made considerable progress in the last week from Dukla east to the San, on which Przemysl is located.

They took 8,000 prisoners and twenty guns.

The fighting on the Carpathian front from the Dukla to the Uszog pass has taken on the character of a general battle, the outcome of which is awaited with much anxiety in Vienna as well as in Petersburg. If the Austrians are victorious the fall of Przemysl will be a mere episode in the bloody drama, most likely they would retake it, if they lose it may cause a serious turn in affairs. From Bucharest it is reported that large bodies of Russians are being transported from Przemysl to Zugatz and Smak, east of Dukla.

As Petropad has not advised us of late that Hindenburg has been driven out of position after position we may assume without assurance from Berlin that he is holding his own before Warsaw. And there is where the fate of the Eastern Campaign will be decided, not in Galicia. Up to date the German fighting front remains in the swamps. The Germans managed to hold their line until they had constructed new works under the protection of which they gathered up the enormous mass of war material which the Russians had to abandon in the woods and swamps. This accomplished they advanced anew. The Third Russian corps was surprised by a flank attack and had a hasty retreat which exposed the army and order was given for a general retreat. The Germans followed up their victory with relentless pursuit and made much body again. After his second defeat the commander, General Sievers, shot himself. His staff was dissolved.

In the Western war area both sides hold to the defensive for the present. General French's inflicted repaired. The Sultan has sent his regards to London that he cannot pack as quickly as the Lord High Admiral would wish him to. He is still on the old spot. A member of the Turkish cabinet has assured a correspondent of the Associated Press that the Turks are yet in the Caucasus, notwithstanding the Russians (in Petrograd) have wiped them out, as well as near the Suez Canal. London confirms it.

Paris has been visited again by the Zeppelins, which created another bad scare.

Several British sailing vessels were torpedoed this week by German submarines and the Steamer Conte with 10,000 tons of wheat from Argentine. The crews were given time to take to their blackhouse on the Yonne plateau north of Verdun.

Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, whom the news fakirs reported as mortally wounded a few days ago, in a general order to his troops praises them for their bravery at Neuve Chapelle, where by his words three German battalions fought against forty-eight British battalions. He says, "We did not regain the lost position, but your heroism has had such an effect upon the enemy that he has not dared to renew the attack, I rely upon your valor in battles to come." This is interpreted as a confirmation of the rumors that the Germans in the canal region are preparing for a new advance.

In the Dardanelles the Allies are ready to support the work of their reorganized fleets, which has begun again, with land operations on the Gallipoli peninsula from the Gulf of Saros and take Constantinople in the rear. If you look at the chain of forts and batteries, manned by 250,000 Turkish troops of the line, you will see what a task they have before them. German engineers have constructed spurs of railroads along the shores on which motor trucks with heavy Krupp guns can be moved to where they are most needed to reply to the iron hull of the Allies' warships at close range. Athens reports that the Vengeance and Cornwallis also have been badly damaged. All reports agree that the Turkish main forts and batteries have remained intact and the damage inflicted repaired. The Sultan has sent his regards to London that he cannot pack as quickly as the Lord High Admiral would wish him to. He is still on the old spot. A member of the Turkish cabinet has assured a correspondent of the Associated Press that the Turks are yet in the Caucasus, notwithstanding the Russians (in Petrograd) have wiped them out, as well as near the Suez Canal. London confirms it.

Several British sailing vessels were torpedoed this week by German submarines and the Steamer Conte with 10,000 tons of wheat from Argentine. The crews were given time to take to their blackhouse on the Yonne plateau north of Verdun.

Grand Duke Nicholas has driven all the Jews out of the territory the Russian troops occupy in Galicia.

Want of coal has brought all industries in Moscow, the old Russian capital, to a standstill, as the Novoje Wremya in St. Petersburg announces. The Russian Slovra is authority for the statement that a famine exists in Siberia.

New York commercial papers say, "The textile industry has been proceeding on the theory that steady shipment of colors from Germany were to be relied upon, but the imposition of a blockade by England destroys all hope."

In the United States $6,200,000 were collected for Belgium, England, Canada, Australia and New Zealand together only gave $25,000 to the friend in need.

The Italian Ambassador in London has officially announced that he has no advice of a change in Italy's policy. "Italy stands now, where she has always stood," he says.

In the German Parliament the Minister of Finance announced that the subscriptions to the new war loan considerably exceeded those to the first loan and would reach 7000 million mark.

A number of skilled workmen in the big Creusot gun works in France have gone on a strike. They were replaced by Spaniards.

The whole socialist fraction of the German Parliament voted for the new war loan with the exception of one ultra.

According to the figures of the German war office Germany now harbors 10,000 prisoners.

The Chilean government has confirmed the report that the German cruiser Dresden was attacked in Cumberland Bay on the north coast of the Chiloe island of San Fernando by the British squadron and that the act was a flagrant breach of neutrality.

"Germany could have averted the war if it had listened to our conference proposal," So Earl Grey declared in the British Parliament a few days ago. Not Germany but Austria rejected that proposal because it considered that its trouble with Servia over the double murder at Sarajevo was not an international matter such as the Balkan conference had to do with, and Germany backed Austria because it knew that the preposition at the last moment was only made to gain time for the Allies, who were concentrating troops on her border and crossed them the next day, and that the British Ambassador had notified the French government the English fleet, assembled at Spithead, would strike as soon as a German cruiser appeared in the North Sea.

General French has had an interview with an American correspondent, in which he bestows great eulogies upon Generals Lee and Stonewall Jackson, whom he compares to Cromwell, evidently to flatter President Wilson, who is a Virginian like the two. The correspondent says: "Few Americans are probably as familiar with our civil war as Sir John." He ought to be as the British were deeply interested in that war, but he has studied it from the confederate viewpoint, as he lauds Lee and Jackson but makes no mention of Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. Of course he praises the valor of the British troops, who by his assurance saved the defeated Allies army at Mons. The French hold a different opinion however and have expressed it very forcibly on more than one occasion. In a review of the unlucky operations of the Allies army in Belgium up to its retreat behind the Marne, based upon French official statement, the London correspondent of the Associated Press in a late letter says: "The French lay the blame for it to the British. According to them the British on August 24, fell back before the Germans upon the Maubeuge-Cambrai line. On August 25 and 26 their retreat quickened, and after their defeat at Landrecies and Le Cateau it became a rout." On this version the French and the Germans agree, and as much it will go into history, notwithstanding the turn of fiction and St. Quentin, who predicts that the Germans will loose out because they can't get any salpette to make powder.

General Friedrich Von Heygeli, the German military writer before the war almost unknown, even in Germany, has been much spoken of by the American press which has accepted the wrong London translation of his book "Weltmarkt Oder Untergang" into "World Dominion or Death" as a true version. The first word means world power and not world dominion and the other does not mean death but going down. The idea the writer meant to convey is that Germany either had to remain a world power like the United States as which it is recognized or fall to a secondary power like Spain did. The object of the misleading wrong translation (falsehood) which is followed all through the book is too transparent to need explanation.

A New Declaration of War

A most sensational and relatively important communication comes from Petersburg, uncensored via London, under date of March 24: The congress of representatives of the nobility, now holding its annual session, today unanimously adopted the following resolution: "The vital interests of Russia require full possession of Constantinople, both shores of Bosphorus and Dardanelles and the adjacent islands."

This is nothing more nor less than a voiced threat to England by the most powerful political faction in Russia and the backbone of its war party, at the head of which stands the commander-in-chief of the army, the almighty Grand Duke Nicholas.

By intimations from Rome that Russia and Austria are separately and secretly negotiating for peace, the Petersburg threat to London gains in significance. It means, if you do not open the Dardanelles to help us to cash and munition we are out of the play, especially as rumors have been current for some time, that if Turkey is forced to the wall it will like Austria rather negotiate for peace with Petropad than with London an ally to regain in Africa what it has lost in Europe.

At present neither Austria nor Turkey are ready or inclined to give up but both have to count with eventualities. If Italy and the Balkan states should enter the war on the side of the Allies and Austria have to fight on three fronts, the chances would be against her and she would be forced to accept the unavoidable. Russia wants Constantinople and the Dardanelles. That is in the main what she is fighting for alongside of the Western Allies. If they block her she will turn against them, now or later, and later may be too late. Who knows what will come? That is what Italy and the Balkan states are waiting for, arms in hand, but at rest.

Revival To Close

A two weeks revival at the Wheelersburg Baptist church will be brought to a close Sunday evening. Rev. W. H. Miller who has been conducting the services will preach Sunday morning and evening. Dr. C. A. R. Cornell, Pastor

503 Washington Street

Sunday school promptly at nine o'clock. All members will endeavor to be on time and don't let anything keep you away, as we are anticipating an attendance of five hundred on Easter Sunday, and to realize this it is important that you be there this Sunday.

The pastor's subject at the morning service will be "What Shall We Do for the One Hundred Talents?" a timely sermon on a most important subject. Our fellow citizens who are undecided as to where they will attend church this Sunday are cordially invited to worship with us. Any traveling men who may be in the city over Sunday, come to Bigelow. We will be glad to see

The sermon subject for the evening service is, "The Bundle of Life." Our great chorus choir, the finest in the city, will render several special numbers. People who are fond of the very best in church music find it at Bigelow church.

At the coming Wednesday evening prayer and praise service Rev. Connell will begin a special series of prayer meeting talks on the subject of "Bible Difficulties," dealing with those portions of scripture that are hard to understand, and which, in some instances, offer rather serious obstacles to the minds of thinking people. Hear the first one or two of these short addresses on this all important subject, and doubtless you will hear them all. The very thing that has been bothering you and interfering with your faith in the promises of God, may be taken up and satisfactorily explained.

Lesson XIII.—First Quarter, For March 28, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Neh. ix, 24-31. Quarterly Review—Golden Text, Prov. xiv, 34—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Lesson I.—God's Patience With Israel. Judg. II, 1-19. Golden Text, Hosea xii, 4, "I will boast their backsliding; I will love them freely." God did everything for Israel that infinite love could do and make so pathetic. In Isa. x, 4, "What could have been done more to my vineyard that I have not done in it?" He asked only that they make no league with the inhabitants of the land, who were all idolaters, but keep themselves wholly for Him.

Lesson II.—Deborah and Barak Deliver Israel. Judg. iv, 4-10. Golden Text, Ps. xlii, 17, "The Righteous and the Unrighteous are both delivered in the hands of the Lord."

Lesson III.—The Call of Gideon. Judg. vi, 11-16, 33-40. Golden Text, Ps. lxx, 4, "Blessed is the man whom thou chosest." Now the oppressors are the Midianites, and the oppression is very severe—no great that can be kept for one's own use. It must be threshed in secret. Gideon while thus occupied is visited by the Lord (verse 14) and called to be the deliverer, strengthened by the assurance that the one who sent him would be surely with him (verses 14-16).

Lesson IV.—Gideon and the Three Hundred. Judg. vii, 18-23. Golden Text, Zech. viii, 8, "Not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." The sifting of an army of 32,000 down to 300 because all the rest were afraid or loved their own comfort was a very unusual proceeding and suggests the question, How many professed followers of Christ today are ready wholly to renounce self and follow Him fully?

Lesson V.—The Birth of Samson. Judg. xiii, 8-20, 24, 26. Golden Text, Judg. xiii, 14, "Beware, I pray thee, and drink no wine nor strong drink." This was the longest and in some respects the worst of all the oppressions, forty years under the Philistines, but again the Lord delivered. Again the Lord came personally to talk with the human agent, this time to visit her who was to be the mother of the deliverer and tell her the manner of the man.

Lesson VI.—Ruth Chooses the True God. Ruth i, 18-21. Golden Text, Ruth i, 16, "They people shall be my people and thy God my God." All the deliverers were in a measure typical of the great Deliverer, but this is the story of one who came into the direct line of our Lord's human ancestry. By the overrunning of human failure this devoted Gideon plays a wonderful part in the great drama of history, the heart of which is His story.

Lesson VII.—Samuel Called to Be a Prophet. I Sam. iii, 1-13, 19, 20. Golden Text, I Sam. iii, 9, "Speak, Jehovah, for Thy servant heareth." The quartet's lessons seem to be wholly on the line of the Lord "delivering or preparing or calling the deliverer." The prophet's lessons seem to be wholly on the line of the Lord "delivering or preparing or calling the deliverer." This is a broken hearted, persecuted woman who is called to be the mother of the deliverer, and her song or prayer is very similar to that of Mary in Luke.

Lesson VIII.—The Death of Eli and His Sons. I Sam. iv, 13-18. Golden Text, I Sam. i, 22, "How ye doers of the word and not hearers only, deluding your own selves." Poor old Eli was in a measure out of fellowship and relied upon the ark rather than upon the Lord, so that the Lord humiliated them by allowing the ark to be taken, Israel defeated, Eli's sons slain.

Lesson IX.—Samuel, the Victorious Leader. I Sam. iii, 19-21. Golden Text, I Sam. xii, 12, "Hitherto hath Jehovah helped us."

Lesson X.—Samuel, the Victorious Leader. I Sam. xii, 13-17. Golden Text, I Sam. xii, 17, "Samuel fell greatly hurt, but committed all to the Lord and was told to grant them a king, but under protest. Then the Lord sent him the man and afterward controlled the lot so that the people elected him."

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, PEEVISH IF CONSTIPATED

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other child's ailment, give a tea-spoonful of "California Syrup of Figs", then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bilge and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "internal cleansing" cures all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of substituted fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs", which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

BURGLARS RAID LEET LUMBER CO. BRANCH

Unknown ruffians entered the office of the H. Leet Lumber Company at their branch plant in Sciotoville Friday night, and departed with $2 worth of stamps and some loose change, which they found in the safe, which was left unlocked.

No trace could be found as to how the thieves gained admission to the office and Manager S. F. Johnson is of the opinion that skeleton keys were used to open the office door and the drawers of a desk, which were found open and which had been ransacked.

The firm, it was stated Saturday, uses the safe for storage purposes only, and as a rule there is practically no money at all in it. The office building is located on Jackson street, near the B. & O. depot. The robbery was reported to Sheriff Pete Smith.

Robberies were perpetrated in Lancaster and McDermott within the past two weeks, and suspects are being held under indictment for these crimes.

The robbery successfully carried out in Sciotoville last night is somewhat shrouded in mystery, as when Mr. Johnson reported for work this morning he found all the windows and the door locked as usual. There was no evidence whatever of how the parties entered the office. Every drawer was pulled out and ransacked and a scene of confusion confronted him when he opened the office.

It is claimed that he will positively answer the question, "Why Did God Permit Evil?" in a manner that

THE "UNANSWERABLE QUESTION" TO BE ANSWERED

The subject for discussion at the Templo Theater Sunday afternoon is "Why God Permitted Evil?" The speaker, W. H. Spring.

It is probable that no one realizes more clearly than the lecturer that the subject he is expected to discuss has been considered for many years to be the "unanswerable question" from the standpoint of modern theology.

If it were proposed that a novice in Bible study and research was to discuss this subject, many would feel inclined to believe that this particular subject had been selected for the purpose of sensational advertising, but certain it is that any who know or have heard Mr. Spring can be sure that nothing is further from his thought.

It is claimed that he will positively answer the question, "Why Did God Permit Evil?" in a manner that

Dr. Leighton At All Saints Church

The large and representative congregation which attended All Saints church last night were rewarded by hearing what was easily one of the most instructive and interesting addresses ever delivered in this city. Dr. Leighton, who is the distinguished head of the Department of Philosophy at the State University, spoke for forty-five minutes on his subject: "A Standard of Morality for Society and Nations." To hear a thoroughly trained and competent expert deal with so interesting a subject is a privilege not often accorded to a Portsmouth audience and all who were present were loud in their expression of appreciation of Dr. Leighton's effort. The substance of the preacher's message was to the effect that the recognition of the value of personality was the only cure for all social evils. This doctrine, he said, was thoroughly Christian, inasmuch as our Lord Himself first taught and practised it. With the universal recognition of the value of every human soul war and most other evils simply can not exist.

Debate Is A Draw

"Resolved that women shall have the right of suffrage" was the subject debated by the Young Men's Lycene Club of the A. M. E. church Friday night.

Mrs. R. B. Nash and Mrs. Martha Valentine took the affirmative side and Charles Johnson and John Richardson had the negative side. The judges declared it a tie. The judges were H. O. Williams, Grant Metcalf and Mrs. Dan Fayett. The debate was a very spirited affair and the judges declared it a draw. Mrs. Zelma White sang a solo and Reese Robbins and John Woods rendered piano selections.

PINKS TO GET BANQUET

Friday evening, April 7, is the date of the banquet which the vanquished Blues will tender the victorious Pinks in the membership campaign of the Daughters of America, which was concluded last week. Captain Quigley, of the Blues, announced at the meeting last evening that the Blues would make good their agreement to banquet the winners. The occasion will be made an enjoyable one.

One applicant, Miss Garnet Woods, was elected to membership. Other important routine business was transacted, followed by a pleasant social session, in which games were the chief diversion.

A MILEAGE RECORD FOR TEXAS

So determined is W. S. Dunbar of Port Stockton, Texas, to hold the Ford mileage record, that he has sent his report to the Ford Motor company in the form of a sworn affidavit. It is certainly an astonishing record, too. Mr. Dunbar makes regular trips in his Ford between Fort Stockton and Pecos City, a distance of 65 miles, and carries four passengers. His Model T, purchased in 1909, is still in service, with the same wheels, engine and transmission, and has a grand mileage of 150,000 miles.

In addition to that, Mr. Dunbar has repeatedly made the round trip of 130 miles, sworn to in his affidavit, on 3½ gallons of gasoline or a mileage of 37 1/2 miles per gallon. It isn't remarkable, perhaps, that Mr. Dunbar should insist upon having these extraordinary figures preserved in affidavit form.

FORD MAKING ABOUT 1,000 CARS DAILY

Detroit, Mich., March 27.—3:30 in the afternoon to midnight. The men have half an hour for their meals.

Only a fortnight ago the production in the main plant was 800 cars a day. This has been increased to near 900 per day and is expected to pass the 1,000 mark before the beginning of April.

The production possibilities in the twenty-one assembling plants vary greatly. In one or two at least 100 cars may be completed in a day, in others fewer than fifty can be assembled. At the present time, it is said, between 600 and 1,000 is their total daily output.

DODGE BROS. CAR PASSES SEVERE TESTS IN CUBA

News of a record breaking climb of the mountainous Puerto Bonito road near Santiago, Cuba, by a Dodge Brothers' car, has been received at the factory from E. G. Willems, foreign representative of the company. Practically every new car is subjected to the Puerto Bonito climbing test before it is given any standing in Cuban motoring circles.

Ninety percent of all cars making the run resort to low gear for the entire distance," writes Mr. Willems. "The road winds up the side of mountain 20,000 feet high and is considered the severest test in Cuba for cars of any price. With four prominent citizens of Santiago in the Dodge Brothers' car I drove the complete distance on second gear in six minutes time. At the top of the mountain, where the radiators of most cars have to be refilled, we could place our hands on the radiator of our machine without discomfort. The cooling was absolutely perfect and the car has made a big hit with Cuban motorists."

In making the trip, Mr. Willems, who drove the car, was unacquainted with the road conditions and the many sharp hairpin turns on the climb. Señor Juan Guiso, recently appointed dealer for Dodge Brothers in Santiago, will attempt to lower the record, as he believes he can clip several minutes from Willems' time through his greater familiarity with the road.

CHALMERS OWNERS TO SPEND VACATIONS IN THEIR CARS

Wards has motorized the gentle art of taking vacations.

Hugh Chalmers, president of the Chalmers' Motor company, of Detroit, declares that his mail bags are jammed with letters from car owners who assert that instead of taking their annual trips to Europe this year, they are going to have a look at America from the tonnages of their touring cars.

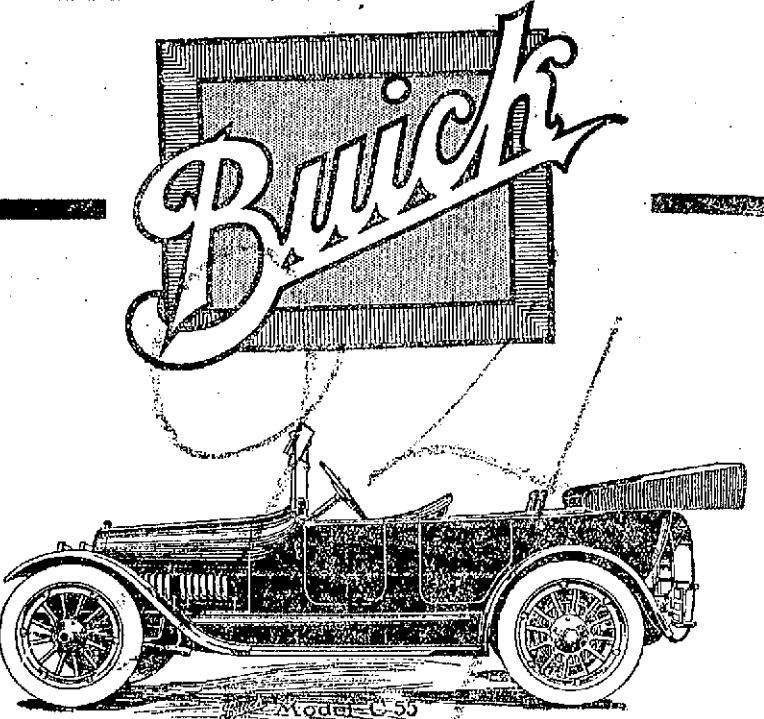

"The ignorance of America on the part of some of these prospective tourists," observed the Detroit motor magnate with a chuckle, "is something pathetic. Many of them look forward to prancing about among American motor trails back of the steering wheel with all the naivete and artlessness of children about to cross the threshold of some fairy land."

"They will find their homespun vacationing on the Great American Playground all and more than they are looking forward to. Judging from the floods of mail I am receiving, not only most of those who usually go abroad for summer touring, but many of those who usually spend their vacations at inland summer resorts or on the seashore, are planning to go cross country motoring instead this year.

"The democratizing influence of the motorized vacation," continued the Chalmers head, "will prove great. It is one thing to whirl across the continent in the seclusion of a Pullman. It is another thing to cross by easy stages in your car, pausing to dicker for grub, gasoline, or a lodging for the night at a farm house, ranch house, or some cross-roads inn. Every motorist who crosses the continent in his car for a visit to the expositions on the Pacific Coast will return home an incomparably better American for having undertaken the jaunt. Democracy is a matter of getting acquainted."

"The many questions with which Chalmers owners are deluging the Detroit factory regarding motor trails, costs of various tours, service stations and accommodations along different routes, indicate an unprecedented touring year in this country."

A good many Chalmers owners will go caravanning from coast to coast, camping by the way where attractive camp-spots lie, and crawling into their sleeping bags to slumber beneath the stars, instead of making an effort to reach hotel accommodations each night. Europe's war has brought the simple outdoor life into the great

PAIGE PLANT BUSY

There are now from 700 to 800 men working at the plant of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company, and the production will soon be 1,000 cars a month. Actual sales up to the end of the first week of March were nearly 70 percent greater than at the same time in 1914. The production is being increased as rapidly as possible in order to meet the increasing sales!

WATCH WAS 8 MINUTES SLOW; LOUIS KERN KILLED

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN'S LIFE IS SNUFFED OUT BY PASSENGER TRAIN

Struck from behind by an N. & W. passenger train which he was hurrying to catch, Louis Kern, proprietor of the Imperial Tea Company, of 607 Second street, was hurled into eternity near Arion shortly after nine o'clock Friday evening. His neck and spine were broken, his skull fractured, and his body cut and bruised in several places. Death was instantaneous.

Mr. Kern's watch, which was still running when his body was picked up by the train crew, was eight minutes slow. It is presumed that he figured that he had plenty of time to catch the passenger train at Arion, and never thought that the train was so near upon him until too late to get out of its way. Its approach through the cul is obscured until it makes the turn close to where Kern was walking when he was struck.

Hurled Down Embankment

The accident occurred on a high fill about one hundred yards west of Arion station, at the end of a cut which terminates in a compound curve. Kern was walking along the north side of the main track and so close to it that he was struck by the pilot beam on the engine, being hurled to the bottom of the embankment, where his body was found a few minutes later by the train crew. The train was marking ten miles an hour at the time of the accident. Fireman John Conners was the only witness to the accident.

The engineer, Jeff Thompson, stated that he thought he saw a man walking along the track in front of the train as the engine entered the cut. He and his fireman were startled a few seconds later by seeing the lantern fall to the ground. The brakes were applied, and the train stopped a short distance from the spot. The crew hurried back to the scene, and found the lantern on the top of the embankment.

Further search revealed the lifeless body of Kern huddled in a heap at the bottom of the embankment. Dr. Albert Beindl, of this city, who was passenger on the train, was hurriedly summoned by the conductor, Harry Shaw, to make an investigation. It required but a short examination to determine that the spark of life had fled from the body, which was carried to the train and placed aboard the baggage car.

Card Established

Identify

Examination of the personal effects of the victim established his identity, a card with Mr. Kern's name and address and other papers denoting his ownership being found in his pockets. The N. & W. undertaker, Roy Lynn, and the local police station, were notified of the accident, and the former was requested to meet the train with his ambulance. Police officers notified the family.

Upon its arrival to this city the body was taken to Lynn's undertaking establishment, where it was prepared for burial. Early Saturday morning, it was removed from Lynn's morgue to the Pfeiffer undertaking establishment on Chillicothe street.

During the past five weeks, Mr. Kern has been dividing his time between his local business and his 40-acre farm near Arion. Last January fire, which was thought to have been of incendiary origin, totally destroyed the house located on his place, and he recently made arrangements to rebuild. He left home Thursday morning to superintend the hauling of the lumber from the mill at Rushtown.

Broken

The greater portion of the injuries were on the back of the body, leaving the face and front part of the body unscathed, save for some scratches on the forehead and left side of the face, caused by cinders as it rolled down the embankment. The fatal injuries included a scalp wound in the back of the head, which penetrated the skull, and a broken neck and spine. Numerous smaller bruises and cuts appeared on different parts of the body, but neither arms nor legs were broken. The engine must have struck him squarely in the back with terrific force, crushing him internally.

Victim Was A Respected Citizen

The news of Mr. Kern's death spread rapidly over the city, and occasioned sincere sorrow and regret. Few men were more widely known among all classes, and he numbered his friends by the legion. Possessed of a native German wit which was constantly in evidence, he combined with it a rare sense of humor, and he always injected his own personality into any friendly argument or joke. His friends listed nothing better than to engage him in argument, for he bubbled over with comedy of the refreshing kind, and always kept his head.

In business, he was honest, diligent, and thrifty, and enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who did business with him. He has been located in the West End in the vicinity of his present stand for almost twenty years, and recently opened up a branch store in the East End, which he placed in charge of his son.

Had Rared Large Family

He reared a large family, and his happiest moments were in the evening, when he was at home with his wife and children. His widow said Friday evening that Thursday night was the first night in many months that he had been away from home, and that she was confident that he would be home Friday night. The only thing that marred the pleasure which he found in visiting his farm was that it took him away from his home. To intimate friends, he spoke of the time when he would retire from business and settle down on his farm to end his days in peace and quiet.

Was Born In Germany

Louis Kern was born at Kappel-Windeck, Baden, Germany, on August 25th, 1861, and received his education in the mother country. At the age of 26, he emigrated to the United States, and located in Cincinnati, where he resided for about ten years, during which time he was employed in various bakeries in that city. About two years after locating in Cincinnati, he was united in marriage to Barbara Kittl, of that city, who survives him. He and his wife, came to Portsmouth on March 1, 1897, and opened a grocery and bakery on Second street, near Court, in the room now occupied by the Kuhl-Patterson Printing Co. A few years later, he moved into the building two doors east, at 607 Second street, where he was located at the time of his untimely end.

To the happy union, eight children were born, one of whom died in infancy. The seven children living are: Edward, manager of his father's branch store in the East End; Louise, Carrie, Marguerite, Edna, Rose and Paul. Marguerite and Edna are twin sisters. One year ago, Mr. and Mrs. Kern adopted an orphan child, Roland Weber, whom they had learned to love as one of their own.

Three brothers and three sisters, residing in the old country, also survive him, there being no relatives in this country outside of the immediate family. Was Devout Catholic

Mr. Kern was a devout Catholic, being a member of the St. Mary's church of this city. His family find solace in the fact that he and Mrs. Kern received communion at the closing services of the Forty Hours Devotion at the St. Mary's church last Tuesday morning.

He was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, the Owls, and the Badish Society of Cincinnati, an organization composed of Germans born in Baden, Germany. Suitable action will be taken by these organizations in regard to his death.

The funeral of Mr. Kern will be held Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the St. Mary's Catholic church, in charge of Rev. Mr. A. Gachel, the pastor. Interment will be in Greenlawn cemetery. The body was removed from the Pfeiffer undertaking establishment to the Kern home on Second street early Saturday afternoon.

"How long should a man's legs be?" someone asked Abraham Lincoln.

"About long enough to reach from his body to the ground I should say," replied Mr. Lincoln.

"How heavy should a motor car be?" someone asked Hugh Chalmers.

"Heavy enough to do what he wants it for," replied Mr. Chalmers.

"I want one heavy enough to see me over the rough roads without danger and big repair costs—light enough to be reasonably economical of gas and oil."

Yet there are other features besides the notable one of repair economy that will interest you in this class car leader—the Chalmers Light Six-48.

Few costly cars can claim equality with it in beauty. The streamline body possesses a distinctive grace of line that makes it noteworthy even when contrasted with the finest foreign models.

There are no fenders built—whether flat or merely crown—that are as handsome as the Chalmers molded oval fenders. They conform with exquisite harmony to the clean-cut sweep of the body lines.

The doors are wide and flush-fitting. The running boards are clear. The tires are carried in the rear.

Quality First

The Chalmers Light Six-48

$1650

Comparison Proves Compare the Chalmers Light Six-48 point by point, detail by detail, with any other light six selling within several hundred dollars of its price—$1650—and the greater value of the Chalmers will be quite apparent.

First—in stability, which embraces construction, design, balance, quality of material and—as a result of all these greater repair economy—or worded differently—more continuously efficient service at less upkeep cost.

Second—in looks, which means finish, design, upholstery, equipment and construction.

Third—in power—ample for every motoring need—with a long, strong pull that makes light of heavy roads and steep hills.

Fourth—in speed—you don't intend to shatter any speed records, yet it is deeply satisfying to feel that—if you ever want to—you can leave your rival in the rear.

Take the Measure of This Yet though these cars' QUALITY yourself by fact—we do not ask you to accept them on our assurance. But we believe that you should personally investigate their truth.

We believe that the record of the Chalmers Motor Company during the past seven years and the record of this car—its fastest selling six—during the past season have earned the right to your serious consideration if you are contemplating purchasing a car between $1400 and $2400 in price.

EXCELSIOR CAN PULL

PAIGE PLANT VERY BUSY

Demonstrating just what pulling strength an Excelsior motorcycle has, James G. Barrouque, Excelsior dealer of Bridgeport, Conn., hitched two of the 1915 models together, fastened a moving van to them, the van weighing 2900 pounds, and put on 12 fellows and carried them 25 miles on low gear. Thus it can be seen that the "X" pulled approximately five tons. The Excelsior shop, 101 Gillis, H. Brantam, manager, says the Paige company agency for the Excelsior.

Owing to an avalanche of orders, the Paige automobile factory is working twenty-four hours a day and is still behind in its orders. The Portsmouth Auto and Machine company, 110 Howe and Orin B. Oaks, salesmen, are the local agents for the Paige car.

Special attention to repairs.

STATE CHAIRMAN E. W. HANLEY DIES

E. W. HANLEY.

Dayton, March 27.—Edward W. Hanley, 57, chairman of the state and county Democratic central committees, died at his home at 9 o'clock this morning.

He had been in failing health for almost a year and Bright's disease and heart trouble were the immediate causes of his death. He was born in Dayton and at the time of his death was president of the Dayton gas company. Mr.

the Dayton gas company. Mr. Hanley was at one time Democratic candidate for United States senator for the seat now occupied by Senator Pomerene.

A widow survives him. Mr. Hanley had but recently returned from a health resort where he had endeavored to regain his lost health, but gradually declined. He died sitting in a chair at his home.

WILL USE DREDGES TO MAKE ATTEMPT

Honolulu, March 27.—The lost submarine F-4 which has been located outside the harbor entrance will be raised late this afternoon if all goes well, according to a statement made by Captain Duffy last night. Duffy says he believes there is a fighting chance to save the lives of the men imprisoned in the submarine on the ocean floor.

The dredger California, despatched from the Pearl Harbor naval station in response to a radiogram reached the scene of midnight but did not begin work immediately. The dredger will work with the Alert, mother ship of the submarine flotilla. The pontoon system probably will be used to raise the F-4. Chains will be passed under the bow and stern of the submerged submarine, the dredges sunk into the water and the chains tightened. The water then will be pumped out of the dredger, causing her to rise higher in the water, thus providing lifting power to raise the submarine.

The army department hospital is in readiness to receive the men of the F-4 when the submarine is raised. Col. Elbert has placed his hospital staff and equipment at the service of the navy.

Mr. Rinehart's subject was: "How To Make Chicago As Dry As the Arizona Desert."

HERE'S PICTURE TAKEN AT CONSTANTINOPLE ON THE DAY BEFORE DARDANELLES BOMBARDMENT BEGAN

(c) Underwood & Underwood.

This picture, taken by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., on February 13th, the day before the bombardment of the Dardanelles commenced shows a general view of the Turkish capital and the Golden Horn in the foreground. On the extreme left is the German cruiser Breslau, which was nominally purchased from the Germans by the Turks at the outbreak of the war. The other two are modern Turkish battleships. One of the government buildings is seen on the right. Henry Morgenthau, Jr. is the son of Henry Morgenthau, American ambassador at Constantinople.

ITALY PREPARES TO THROW HER FORCES WITH ALLIES

Rome, March 26—(via Paris, March 27)—Every measure possible has been taken by the Italian government preparatory to the beginning of hostilities by Italy on the side of the allies.

Rome, March 26 (via Paris, March 27)—Close observers here of the Balkan situation profess to see indications of a gradual tendency on the part of the Bulgarian government to adopt a policy favorable to the allies. It is believed Bulgaria hopes to act jointly in that direction with Italy and Rumania.

BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

Miss Rae Tanner

If it were not that New York is the place and American names figured in the plot, the Tanner-Groome breach of promise case, and resultant arrest, developments might be mistaken for a French farce. Lawyer Osborne, it appears, has left his reputation in the hands of his usually small stature.

While Miss Tanner, the fair young party to the trouble, must wait for the court to bring about developments on her side of the controversy, Miss Tanner, all parties agree, is very pretty, but of unusually small stature.

These hard times have come upon official West Virginia because the late legislature, in spite of a special session, failed to enact tax laws, failed to appropriate enough money to run the government. Normal monthly expenses are $200,000, while the amount available at this time is only $75,000, leaving a deficiency of $125,000. The emergency fund is practically exhausted, and so serious has become the situation that a number of legislators have suggested that another special session be called, at which all members will serve without pay until the laws necessary to provide the money can be passed.

Assistant Prosecutor Henry Harter, Jr., announces that the chemical analysis of tissue from the Tanner girl's stomach, now under way in the state laboratory at Columbus, will not be completed before the latter part of next week.

VISION DIRECTS "APOSTLE" TO LAY BARE SECRETS OF LOVE CULT HOUSE

Witness Testifies That Members Indulged In Promiscuous Kissing

Alliance, O., March 27.—"Apostle" Percy A. George stated today to Chief of Police France that during the night he had a vision directing him to lay bare all the facts in connection with the love cult house known as the Church of the Kingdom of God and the death of Amy Tanner, pretty Quaker girl, who died after being taken from the house.

Chief of Police France announced that he will conduct an investigation independent of the coun-

TAKE ACTION FOR SAFETY OF AMERICANS IN PERSIA

Washington, March 27.—Efforts to have adequate measures taken for the safety of American missionaries and refugees near Urmiyah, Persia, were continued today by the state department. Turkey had informed the United States that relief would be hurried to the scene, where a Kurdish uprising threatened a general Christian massacre, but the number of troops to be sent and other proposed details of the expedition were not yet known.

The state department's renewed efforts were made after the Presbyterian board of foreign missions at New York received alarming reports of atrocities at Gulpshan, Persia, a few miles from Urmiyah. It was declared sixty men had been taken from the French mission and five from the American mission compound and hanged. While the state department had received no official notice of that report, it had an appeal from the Presbyterian board for relief.

WEST VIRGINIA IS BROKE TO THE LIMIT, MAY CALL THE ASSEMBLY TOGETHER

TYPHUS EPIDEMIC IN SERBIA WORST IN MODERN TIMES

Charleston, W. Va., March 27.—Officials in the Capital were today personally paying for the postage stamps used in their departments, because Uncle Sam does no credit business and the state of West Virginia has very little money for current expenses. Hundreds of school teachers throughout the state took their monthly pay warrants to banks where they were discounted at six per cent or if they were not in need of funds, they laid the warrants away until such time as the state can redeem them.

More than 150 of the 225 persons employed at the state house were paid by the paymaster when he made his usual monthly round, and

J. S. Darst, auditor general, arranged with banks to take care of the employees of state institutions in other communities.

These hard times have come upon official West Virginia because the al session, failed to enact tax laws, ey to run the government. Normal while the amount available at this time is only $75,000, leaving a deficiency of $125,000. The emergency fund is practically exhausted, and so serious has become the situation that a number of legislators have suggested that another special session be called, at which all members will serve without pay until the laws necessary to provide the money can be passed.

FULL OF CONFIDENCE, LOCAL BOWLERS OFF FOR PEORIA

Pin Bouncers Hope To Get A Fine Slice Of The Prize Money

With confidence oozing out their systems and looking certain that they will return from Peoria with a good slice of the prize money that is parceled out at the American Bowling Congress to those who roll the high scores in singles, doubles and five man teams the Portsmouth bowlers, who are eligible to take part in the big tournament left here this morning for Peoria. The pin bouncing party was made up of Capt. Wm. Barron, Frank W. Sheridan, Byron and Fred Prediger, Charley Wilson and James Wanless.

Equipped with all the regalia necessary to make a splendid showing and to uphold Portsmouth's enviable reputation for turning out the finished product in the bowling line the "Big Six" is hopeful of cutting in on the lists to be distributed by the A. B. C. officials.

Having practiced faithfully for sometime the pin bouncers are in the best possible condition. Barring bad luck they should return with a portion of the prize money.

The jolly gang left this morning on N. & W. No. 300 here at 3:50 and went

Southworth Made Homer Off Carter

Thomasville, Ga., March 27.—The Muttis and Jeffs staged a five-round game this afternoon, the Jeffs winning 5 to 1. The Jeffs failed to hit as hard as their opponents, but their fielding scintillated.

The feature of the contest was a circuit shot off Nick Carter's delivery by Southworth, who hit the ball over the fence on a line drive. It was the hardest hit ball ever seen on the field. Southworth also covered a world of ground in the outfield, and seems to be coming in great shape.

Carter and Oshorne worked for the Jeffs, and Dillingham and Collomore for the Muttis. Jay Kirk, Southworth and Evans collected two hits each.

STANDRIDGE, COAST RECRUIT, PITCHES SELF INTO A STEADY JOB WITH CUBS

Pete Standridge, photographed at spring training camp.

One more player has been contracted to the big leagues by the Pacific coast in the person of Pete Standridge, who has pitched himself into a steady job with the Cubs.

Standridge is a native of Seattle and gained his early experience across the border in Canada. His first professional engagement was with Calgary of the Western Canadian league in 1910, and he played there for three seasons before his light attracted any of the bigger leagues.

Pete is a right-hander of the common or garden variety, without anything fresh in the way of pitching goods. He has moderate speed, a curve, and good control. Seldom does he attempt a splitter, depending largely on his ability to keep the ball where he wants to.

Busy Freddie Welsh

Toledo, March 27.—Four fights in 17 days, in three different degrees of latitude, and in as many different countries, the necessity of covering at least 1500 miles of territory to keep his engagements is lightweight champion Freddie Welsh's 17 day schedule beginning last Wednesday.

The Britisher's fight with Patsy Dohrman in Windsor Wednesday night marked the beginning of the unusual program. His next jump is to Montreal for a clash with Young Ludwig of New York on Saturday.

Then comes a big leap to Havana, Cuba, to meet Battling Nelson in a ten-round go, on the eve of the Willard-Johnson tilt, which is scheduled for Sunday April 4. After witnessing the heavy encounter on Sunday Welsh will leave for Toledo where he is scheduled to meet Billy Wagner April 8, finishing his record jaunt but seventy miles from where he started.

White Has It On Cross

New York fight fans insist that Charley White hasn't anything on Leach Cross. No, not if Cross will not fight. Had Cross had the scratch the other night White would have won hands down.

Providence, Mass., where the Bisons will probably open their regular season, is only a few miles from Leach, so the Bisons certainly will be acclaimed when the first game is called.

Magie that's why Patsy Dohrman, new Bison manager, decided to try out Brockton, Mass., as a spring camp.

It's lucky after all that the Peds didn't break up the International league.

The fact that the international league is still in existence has permitted something new to happen in baseball.

The Bisons, Buffalo's entry in the international league race, are going to Massachusetts in to do their spring training. Massachusetts, not being to what you would exactly call the southern part of the country, hasn't been used previous as a spring training ground.

ALL TOPSY TURVY.

The whole world is turned upside down and everything is running out of kilter. If you don't believe it, just look at West Virginia. Men sold the heritages of family name, they bartered away public honor and individual honesty to forward and foment the success of the Republican party. Notwithstanding all this, here now comes the Charleston Mail, a Republican organ, for whose existence politicians have paid tens of thousands to maintain, and complains of the state administration because it is pursuing the traditional policy of the party in cutting down the rations of the insane and orphan asylums and raising the hire of the managers and the job-placers. Why the cost of a single meal per inmate in the insane asylum has been cut down to the basis of two cents and the Mail complains of this unparalleled economy, it would, if one may draw a reasonable inference from its language, cut down the hire of the officials and lifelings and put the cost of the meals up a quarter of a cent. Unreasonable, outrageous! What does it suppose Hatfield was elected for by Republicans? To stuff unfortunate inmates like they fatten geese on the New Orleans market, or to give proper recognition to the fellows who voted and fought at the polls with that Williamson bulldog?

AS THE MIND WORKS.

Some of our kind German friends have directed the attention of the Times to a linguistic error it fell into, the other day, in referring to a publication as Der Faderland, when it should be Das Faderland. In a way, their correction is right and again it is wrong. The error in the name just shows what queer pranks the mind sometimes plays with our bodily parts. The name of the publication is not Das Faderland, but the plain English, The Fatherland. It was thus the writer meant to set it down, but there came into his mind thoughts of the days when he was reciting his German lessons and how hard and ridiculous it seemed that these old language carpenters did not build all alike. Here was the grass just turning green, the birds singing their first spring songs and the fish just beginning to bite, yet fellow had to stay in class all day long and tell a specieled professor that the in English was the definite article, but in German der, die, das, den, den and des all meant the same thing, the, and it all depended as to what sex you were referring to and in which case the noun was being used as to whether it was der or one of a half dozen variations. Writing in one language and stumblingly thinking in another, his sub-conscious made him write Der for The and substitute Faderland for Fatherland.

THE PASSENGER FARE INCREASE.

The legislature should approach the consideration of the two and one-half cent passenger fare bill with perfectly open minds and a determination to do justice all round. They should bear in mind the rights of the traveling public and the rights of the railroads. They should not allow themselves to be affected or swayed by the clamor of demagogues or by the worked up appeals of the railroads. The proposition is purely a business one. If the railroad companies, in the light of increased expenses and higher wages, cannot afford to carry passengers for two cents a mile, they should be allowed to increase their rates. If they cannot show this thoroughly and clearly, and without subterfuge, the proposed bill should be killed.

The time has come when legislators should treat railroads in a clean-cut and business-like manner, not as malefactors. They are a vital part of our business life and they cannot do business at a loss.

Let the legislature investigate and get at the facts. Then let it act accordingly with the certainty that the public will back it up.

"I met a rich but honest farmer awhile ago and he was blowing about how he had gotten $1.75 for his wheat and 80 cents for his corn and so much for his cattle and porkers that he couldn't keep track of the profits and yet he was making the worst calamity and hard times how I've heard in months. I'm going to organize a society to teach optimism to the farmers. That's what I'm going to do," said the large fat man with a Teddy Roosevelt family and a small income as he cheerfully sprawled over two seats in the street car and slapped us jovially on the back as we were on our way to work this morning.

POLLY AND HER PALS

THE STORY OF A DOLLAR.

TEMPTATIONS OF A LEGISLATOR.

We are utterly shocked to read in the catted editorials sent out to us by the perfectly reliable Democratic state press bureau that a Republican member of the state legislature, who is also said to be a member of a Republican controlling committee, reported to the Columbus police last week that he had been robbed in an alley by a colored woman, last week, his loss being $117 and a gold watch. It is also stated that he had been making a tour of the unfringed part of the city with a delegation of lobbyists. Now don't that beat all. The temptations that beset the pathway of the legislator are simply overpowering. It seems to take a great and upright citizen to walk unflinched and unscathed in the midst of sin as exemplified at Columbus.

IN OUR EVERY DAY LIFE.

One of the little unpleasantnesses that occasionally comes in the life of a perfectly innocent and conscientious newspaper editor happened to us Friday afternoon when a strapping six-footer of a corn-fed girl breezed in upon us and thrusting a copy of the Weekly Times under our nose, hissed, "read that."

We read and observed an item in a country letter to the effect that "Ab Jones was over to Lafe Ingles" Sunday to see about bringing home a fine filly he had had his eye upon for some time."

"Well," said we, "what's wrong? Ab had a right to see Lafe about the colt if he wanted to didn't he?"

"I'm the 'filly' referred to and I ain't a colt, and there's a blamed sight wrong," declared one visitor with blazing eyes. "And what's more if you let anything more like that get into your old paper, I'm comin' down here and use a horse whip on you. Do you get that?"

"Yes," we said, "we do, but we want to assure you that we were perfectly innocent and—"

And the large young lady, with blood in her eye, departed as breezily as she came.

It won't happen again, you just bet that. But really we were innocent.

P. S.—The names used above are fictitious. We are not taking any chances on another business visit from the corn fed one.

Hamilton county's thoroughly business-like political organization got for its first helping from the grateful Governor, the State Highway Commissionership and control of about $10,000,000 annually of road contracts. Hereafter roads of all contractors will lead to Cincinnati.

Socialist Meeting

Mr. Fred D. Landerman will be the speaker at the meeting of the local Socialists tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon, 2:30 o'clock, corner Gallia and Clay streets.

Mr. Landerman was the Socialist candidate for mayor at the last city election. He is a forceful speaker and will have something of great interest to say to all those who are interested in the betterment of the condition of the toiling masses. A most cordial invitation is extended to the general public to attend this meeting.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

AGE ONE AND UP

MOTHER McGREW AND HER FAMILY
 To her family one day said Old Mother McGrew:
 "I'm going to give a big party for you,
 And you children can help me a lot if you try;
 The party will be on the Fourth of July.

"So you'd better behave until then or you'll find
 At the very last minute I may change my mind."
 The children all promised because, it is true,
 They doted on parties as all children do.

In the meantime good Mother McGrew baked and brewed;
 She fried and she frizzled; she broiled and she stewed;
 So when the great day came she had a sumptuous
 All sorts of delectable goodies to eat.

She bought roman candles of red, white and blue;
 She bought some pin-wheels and some sky-rockets, too;
 And so when the little folks got there that night
 And saw all these things they were wild with delight.

As they sat down to supper good Mother McGrew
 Said, "We will have fireworks as soon as you're through."
 But alas for her plans, when they looked on the lawn
 They found all their beautiful fireworks were gone.

The children all started to weep and to wail;
 Then Mother McGrew saw the Ostrich turn pale;
 She knew in a minute just what he had done;
 He'd eaten the fireworks up, every last one!

"Though I really should shake you, I'll scold you instead,
 For a shaking might set off the fireworks," she said.
 "In fact, I don't know just what I ought to do
 In a case of this kind," said poor Mother McGrew.

"But this much I know, it's distressingly plain You'll never be asked to a party again."
 And I think that her word must have proved to be true,
 For I've never seen him at any, have you?

WATCH WAS 8 MINUTES SLOW; LOUIS KERN KILLED

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN'S LIFE IS SNUFFED OUT BY PASSENGER TRAIN

Struck from behind by an N. & W. passenger train which he was hurrying to catch, Louis Kern, proprietor of the Imperial Tea Company, of 607 Second street, was buried into eternity near Arion shortly after nine o'clock Friday evening. His neck and spine were broken, his skull fractured, and his body cut and bruised in several places. Death was instantaneous.

Mr. Kern's watch, which was still running when his body was picked up by the train crew, was eight minutes slow. It is presumed that he figured that he had plenty of time to catch the passenger train at Arion, and never thought that the train was so near upon him until too late to get out of its way. Its approach through the cut is obscured until it makes the turn close to where Kern was walking when he was struck.

Hurled Down Embankment

The accident occurred on a fill about one hundred yards from Arion station, at the end of a cut which terminates in a compound curve. Kern was struck while the engine was going at full speed, and hurled to the bottom of the embankment below, where his dead body was found a few minutes later by the train crew.

The engineer, Jeff Thompson, stated that he thought he saw a man walking along the track in front of the train as the engine entered the cut. He and his fireman were startled a few seconds later by seeing the lantern fall to the ground. The brakes were applied, and the train stopped a short distance from the spot. The crew hurried back to the scene, and found the lantern on the top of the embankment.

Further search revealed the lifeless body of Kern, budded in a heap at the bottom of the embankment. Dr. Albert Berndt, of this city, who was a passenger on the train, was hurriedly summoned by the conductor, Harry Shaw, to make an investigation. It required but a short examination to determine that the spark of life had fled from the body, which was carried to the train and placed aboard the baggage car.

Card Established

Examination of the personal effects of the victim established his identity, a card with Mr. Kern's name and address, and other papers denoting his ownership being found in his pockets. The N. & W. undertaker, Roy Lynn, and the local police station, were notified of the accident, and the former was requested to meet the train with his ambulance. Police officers notified the family.

Upon its arrival to this city the body was taken to Lynn's undertaking establishment, where it was prepared for burial. Early Saturday morning, it was removed from Lynn's morgue to the Pfleifer undertaking establishment on Chillicothe street.

During the past five weeks, Mr. Kern has been dividing his time between his local business and his 40-acre farm near Arion. Last January fire, which was thought to have been of incendiary origin, totally destroyed the house located on his place, and he recently made arrangements to rebuild. He left home Thursday morning to superintend the hauling of the lumber from the mill at Rushford to his place, and remained over night, working all day Friday.

Thought He Had Plenty Of Time

Friday evening he started for Arion to board the N. & W. passenger train home. Mr. Kern's farm is located between McDermit and Arion, and he always caught the train at the latter station. It was his usual custom to go to Arion early in the evening and, if he had some time to wait, to continue over to the Nagelisen home to spend the evening. Usually he would leave Nagelisen's home about ten minutes before train time. He followed his usual custom Thursday. He left there in plenty of time, according to his watch, to reach Arion in time to flag the train. No other cause can be assigned for this, as she was confident that he would be home Friday night. The only thing that marred the pleasure which he found in visiting his farm was that it took him away from his home. To intimate friends, he spoke of the time when he would retire from his place, expecting to rig up ten-ton temporary sleeping quarters in an old building during the time the Was Born

Recently, Mr. Kern had taken a couple of sanitary cuts and a quantity of bed clothing to his place, expecting to rig up ten-ton temporary sleeping quarters in an old building during the time the Was Born

In Germany

Louis Kern was born at Kappel, a carpenter to go to work next August 23rd, 1861, and received his education in the mother country. At the age of 26, he emigrated to the United States, and to remain there with him until the work was done. During the past few weeks, he has been superintending the sawing of the timber located in Cincinnati, where he resided for about ten years, during which time he was employed in various bakeries in that city.

About two years after locating in Cincinnati, he was united in marriage to Barbara Kitt, of that city, who survives him. He and his wife came to Portsmouth on March 1, 1897, and opened a grocery and bakery on Second street, near Court, in the room now occupied by the Kah-Patterson Printing Co. A few years later, he moved into the building two doors east, at 607 Second street, where he was located at the time of his untimely end.

To the happy union, eight children were born, one of whom died in infancy. The seven children living are: Edward, manager of his father's branch store in the East End; Lonise, Currie, Marguerite, Edna, Rosa and Paul. Marguerite and Edna are twin sisters. One year ago, Mr. and Mrs. Kern adopted an orphan child, Roland Weber, whom they had learned to love as one of their own.

Three brothers and three sisters, residing in the old country, also survive him; there being no relatives in this country outside of the immediate family.

Was Devout Catholic

Mr. Kern was a devout Catholic, being a member of the St. Mary's church of this city. His family find solace in the fact that he and Mrs. Kern received communion at the closing services of the Forty Hours Devotion at the St. Mary's church last Tuesday morning.

He was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, the Owls, and the Badish Society of Cincinnati, an organization composed of Germans born in Baden, Germany. Suitable action will be taken by these organizations in regard to his death.

The eldest son, Edward, who manages his father's branch store at Robinson and Clay streets, was prevailed upon by Officer Linck to visit the Lynn morgue and satisfy himself that the body was that of his father. He dressed himself, and accompanied the officer to the morgue. "Yes, that's papa," said he, as he gazed into the features of his parent, and further satisfied himself, as examining his clothes and his papers.

Neck Was Broken

The greater portion of the injuries were on the back of the body, leaving the face and front part of the body unscarred, save for some scratches on the forehead and left side of the face caused by cinders as it rolled down the embankment. The fatal injuries included a scalp wound in the back of the head, which penetrated the skull and a broken neck and spine. Numerous smaller bruises and cuts appeared on different parts of the body, but neither arms nor legs were broken. The engine must have struck him squarely in the back with terrific force, crushing him internally.

Victim Was A Respected Citizen

The news of Mr. Kern's death spread rapidly over the city, and occasioned sincere sorrow and regret. Few men were more widely known among all classes, and he numbered his friends by the legion. Possessed of a native German wit which was constantly in evidence, he combined with it a rare sense of humor, and he always injected his own personality into any friendly argument or joke. His friends liked nothing better than to engage him in argument, for he斗ed over with comedy of the refreshing kind, and always kept his head.

In business, he was honest, diligent, and thrifty, and enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who did business with him. He has been located in the West End in the vicinity of his present stand for almost twenty years, and recently opened up a branch store in the East End, which he placed in charge of his son.

Had Raised Large Family

He reared a large family, and his happiest moments were in the evening, when he was at home with his wife and children. His widow said Friday evening that Thursday night was the first night in many months that he had been away from home, and that she was confident that he would be home Friday night. The only thing that marred the pleasure which he found in visiting his farm was that it took him away from his home.

To intimate friends, he spoke of the time when he would retire from his place, expecting to rig up ten-ton temporary sleeping quarters in an old building during the time the Was Born

OBITUARY

John F. Finch

John F. Finch, aged 59 years, a well-known cook and chef, died at the home of his aged and widowed mother, Mrs. Mary Barker Finch, No. 1524 Tenth street, Friday evening, of pneumonia.

Mr. Finch had been ill but a few days, though he had two previous attacks during the winter. He was born at Hillsboro, O., the son of the late Morton B. Finch. For the past twenty years he had been employed with Spillers Bros., railroad contractors, at Alton, O., and the various places where he did contract work. He also at different times did relief duty at George H. Freshell's Palace restaurant. He was a man of genial disposition and was well liked by all who knew him. He was a member of Court Knish Independent Order of Foresters. Besides the mother he is survived by his only sister, Miss Jessie A. Finch.

The funeral will take place from the family home Monday afternoon, at 2:30. Rev. F. Lloyd Streeker, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, will conduct the services. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

George D. Dodds

Stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while shucking corn on the McGroarty farm near Mt. Joy, Friday afternoon, George Douglas Dodds died before a physician could be summoned. Coroner Dr. Walter Duerhler was notified last night and went to Mt. Joy Saturday morning. Mr. Dodds was in the field with Walter Davis, when suddenly he put his hand to his head, and without uttering a word fell dead in his tracks.

Mr. Dodds was 43 years old and off his place to be used in the erection of the house, and the building of the foundation.

will have completed his thirtieth year as editorial head of The Houston Post, one of the most influential newspapers in the south.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Margaret Dodds, leaves the following children: Harry, of Nelsonville; James, at home; Mrs. A. Hayden, of Ironton; and Mrs. Harry Severs, of Chicago. Mr. Dodds was a splendid citizen and was well known in the vicinity of Mt. Joy, Hardin and Henry.

The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon.

Russian Priests Must Marry

While the Catholic priest must be a celibate, the Russian must be married when he gets a position. As soon as he takes his wife, he has to give up his position or go into a monastery. There is no ministry in the Russian church, but this exists only in the monasteries. A monk can never be a parish priest.

THIRTY YEARS HEAD OF BIG NEWSPAPER

R. M. Johnston

L. Riggs and A. Patrick, hoboes, and James Marki, a 17-year-old boy claiming St. Paul, Minn., as his home, were locked up at the city prison early Saturday morning on suspicion of having some knowledge of the shooting of Leslie D. Johnson, a C. & O. detective, in the railroad yards at Silver Grove, Ky., Thursday night.

Word came from Newport Saturday morning that Johnson was still alive, but was in a dangerous condition.

Police had learned of the trio discussing the shooting in various saloons about town Friday night, and Sergeant James Marshal

locked them up for investigation.

THREE HELD BY POLICE MAY KNOW ABOUT THE HOBOES MURDER PLOT

The youth was locked up separately, told them he was headed for Cincinnati, and when questioned said him, they said, they would go to him. They arrived here on N. & W. as they arrived here they wanted to time freight No. 53 Friday evening, so the papers, and one of them at 6 o'clock, he said, having left asked if the detective who was shot Norton at 6 a.m. The police can at Covington, Ky., had died or not, said N. & W. officials and found he was anxious to get off a freight train for that distance in paper for him. He said they 22 hours, as it is 200 miles from talked of holding him standably before leaving Portsmouth.

Police say the boy said the men does not take the men seriously, told him that they had shot man, and is rather inclined to believe but did not state where it took that their suspicous talk was more place. They seemed to be nervous, the result of enusiasm and expect and spoke of wishing when they to question them himself before reached Kentucky. They asked him identifying the C. & O. authorities where he was going, and when he about their detention.

IRONTON ALSO HOLDING SUSPECTS IN HOBO PLOT

Irondale, O., March 27—Suspected of having connection with the shooting of Special Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Agent Leslie Johnson in the Silver Grove, Ky., C. & O. yards Thursday night, John Parker and Ernest "Slim" Jackson, two colored men, who claim that they have been employed at Shadyside, O., were taken from an N. & W. freight train Friday morning by Chief of Police Mayne and Officer John Howard and put against the men and they will be thoroughly.

The prisoners, who answered to confined in the city prison until their case has been investigated.

The description of two of the three colored men who were seen in the vicinity of the Silver Grove yards, carried a quantity of cocaine, and they will probably be prosecuted for having it in their possession, while the federal authorities will do to prosecute the persons who sold it to them.

The federal authorities are now enforcing the "anti-dope" law very stringently and the outcome of the arrest of the two colored men may be a revelation of the workings of a "dope" gang.

Both men refused to tell where they obtained their "coke," but it is quite likely that the officials will be able to trace the dope back to the man who is dispensing it.

One Session A Day Plan Is Voted Back By School Board

BODY FOUND NEAR TRACK

The Portsmouth High School will continue to hold one session a day, instead of two, as voted for at a meeting of the school board on Friday night, March 12.

At a meeting held last night by a vote of 3 to 2, the one session a day plan, which Sup't Frank Appel says, has worked out splendidly, was voted back. Those voting in the affirmative were Messrs. Sanderson, Jackson and Nourse, and those in the negative were Messrs. Hudson and Purdum. At the previous meeting Dr. E. C. Jackson voted with Mr. Purdum and Mr. Hudson, but last night he changed his mind and voted to continue the one session a day plan. The students favor this arrangement and no doubt rejoiced when it became known that the one session a day plan would not be disturbed. The two sessions were to have begun Monday.

Permission was granted to the Ohio State University to hold a supper in the High school on Thursday April 1.

The Tri-Sheeler Company was awarded a contract for running a telephone-wire conduit for the Garfield school. Their bid was $15. The schedule of $555.48 was allowed.

"Hick" Applegate is as tickled over his new Harley-Davidson motorcycle as a boy with a new drum. He has tested the machine in every respect and has not found it wanting. Portsmouth streets have seen him daily, and as soon as the weather opens he expects to take some extended trips.

Among the latest Harley-Davidson owners are Bill Malone and John Bishop.

HUDSON PLANT HUMMING

Reports from the Hudson factory show that the plant is fifteen days behind schedule, but running full tilt in order to catch up in lost time. The Hudson car this year is more than ever making a hit and the sales have been tremendous. It isn't a question of sales with the dealers, but a question of getting the cars to sell.
